THREE YEAR OLD WASHED ASHORE

Mrs. Dingman Tells of Adventure of Childhood When Father's Ship Was Wrecked.

RELATES LATER EXPERIENCE

Declares That the Way Tanlac Restored Her Health Is More Remarkable Than Anything She Has Ever Had Happen to Her.

"I've had some remarkable experiences in my life, but none more wonderful than the way Tanlac overcame my troubles and made me gain twenty pounds," was the statement of Mrs. Christina K. Dingman, 1216 Alice St., Oakland, Calif. One of the experiences to which Mrs. Dingman refers is well known to her friends. When a child of three years, accompanying her father, a noted sea captain, on an ocean trip, the vessel was wrecked, but she was almost miraculously saved, the small box into which she was put being washed ashore. According to her statement, Mrs. Dingman enjoyed the best of health until three years ago when she began to suffer from a bad form of stomach trouble and later from rheumatism. How she was completely restored to health is best told in her own words:

"Nobody knows how I suffered for the past three years. No matter how carefully I ate I would endure agonies afterwards from smothering and sinking spells. Sometimes they were so severe I would fall to the floor and would have to be carried to bed. I went for days at a time without eating, as I dreaded the misery I knew would follow, no matter what I ate. Then rheumatism set in and my shoulders and arms hurt me so I couldn't comb my hair. My back felt like it was breaking in two.

"I was almost in the depths of despair when I began on Tanlac, but this grand medicine has made me a well and happy woman. I'm not even troubled with constipation now, thanks to the Laxative Tablets, which are far superior to anything of the kind I ever tried. It seems almost too good to be true, but here I am in the best of health and spirits after I had given up hope, and I'll always praise Tanlac for it."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Apropos.

It was a school-day romance, and though we went to different schools, we always managed to go home together. Before long it was well known that Alice and Jim were sweethearts, and our names were often linked together. One day Jim visited our school and came into our Spanish class I was asked to recite, and there were loud, gleeful exclamations when I innocently translated the sentence: "I go to visit my friend Jim, who greets me affectionately."—Exchange.

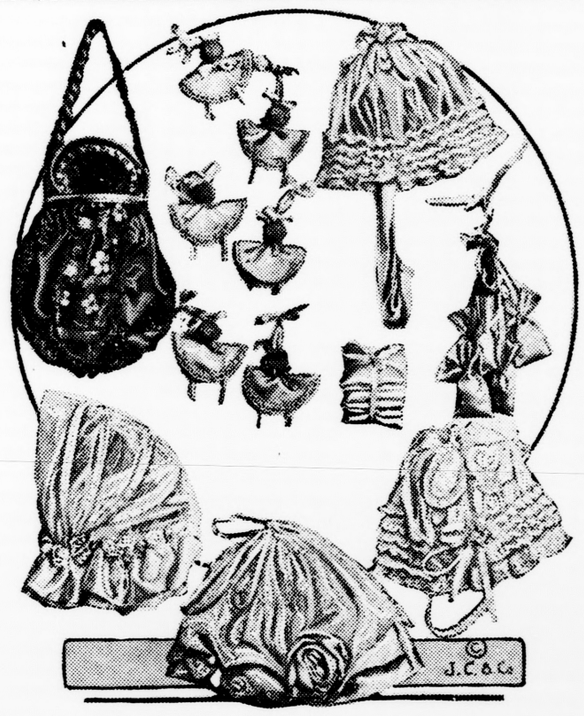
When One Is Sixteen

SUMMER and youth and organdie go hand in hand through the gay summer days. They seem to belong together and customers are making the most of an ever-growing vogue for the sprightliest of fabrics. Organdie is employed in frocks and their trimmings, in millinery and in dress accessories for all womankind from little girlhood on, but it appears that girls from sixteen to the end of their "teens" are favored with the most adorable of all the frocks made of it.

Simple styles and enchanting colors govern the designing of frocks for girls in their teens. The color range in organdie has been widened and includes the dark staple shades of blue and brown, the pale 'ones in many colors and all the new hues that have found favor this season, including ocean blue, tangarine, grape-fruit yellow, coral, cherry and lovely gray-greens. Colors are nearly always made up in combination with white. An example of this is shown in the pretty frock for a girl of sixteen to eighteen or more, which appears here. The dress of blue organdie has a straight full skirt banded about the hips with white organdie, its short sleeves are finished with a plaited frill of white and a very ample fichu is edged with a double frill or organdie and extended into a girdle that terminates in loops and sash-ends of organdie.

Besides this color-and-white combination, sweet sixteen rejoices in two-color combinations in dresses made for youthful revelries. Purple and yellow, pink and blue, red and tan, or whatever else the colorist, who is a master of his art, chooses to mix in just the right proportions, make up the gay party dresses of the pretty "sub-debs." For the littler girls also, lively color combinations are used, with pockets, collars, sashes and organdie flowers, providing opportunities for the designers.

Favorite Ribbon Novelties



CERTAIN ribbon furnishings and dress accessories are always so sure of success that designers need only concern themselves with making them in new ways. And some of them do not require even novelty in design but are serenely sure of favor every season. The group of ribbon "fancies" as pictured above includes familiar belongings made in familiar ways, and little novelties that have the attraction of newness to recommend them. They all make very appropriate gifts.

The pretty things made of ribbon as shown here, include four boudoir caps, a shopping bag, two kinds of sachet bags and a cluster of amusing little penwipers. The last are novel and look like miniature pickaninnies. They might be made of wishbones, with a round bit of sponge answering for the head, a petticoat of chamois skin and a wide skirt of gay ribbon, buttonholed about the edge with silk floss. Baby ribbon furnishes a tie about the neck and a loop by which this little gimcrack may be hung up conveniently.

The handsome bag pictured is made of plain and brocaded satin ribbon and lined with satin. It is mounted on one of these round mountings that have become popular and suspended by satin ribbon. Such bags are made in many color combinations, with black a favorite for the plain ribbon. Packages of small sachets tied together, each one provided with a diminutive gilt safety pin, are made of various colors in satin ribbon and always prove an acceptable gift to dainty maids and matrons.

The boudoir caps shown are very simply designed. That one at the upper right is merely a length of wide ribbon gathered along one edge to form the top, where a rosette is perched. This is made of narrow ribbon and the same ribbon is gathered into four little frills at the edge of the cap which has satin ribbon ties. Wide ribbon makes the quaint Victorian bonnet, banded with narrow ribbon, at the lower left of the group. At the center a ribbon cap is shown veiled with wide lace, with a large ribbon rose posed at each side. The last cap employs lace petals instead of a rosette on the crown and has an elastic bridle covered with shirred ribbon.

Red Hat and White Dress.

There is a rumor that it will be wise to keep the red hat to wear with white dresses. They are always pretty with white, especially in the brimmed hat. As the warm weather comes on, we always expect brimmed hats. But this year the hat with brim has arrived early and is one of the smart new features offered by spring makers.

Jackets Are Beltless.

Jackets are generally beltless and have a single button.

Bracelets Again.

The short sleeve has brought back all the bracelets of yore, the slender hoops of gold and silver set with jewels, the broad gold band, hinged and set with a handsome cameo and the simple hoop of jet. One shop, which boasts an exclusive line, shows a set of three hoop bracelets in graduated widths, the widest a full half inch, the narrowest one no wider than a wedding ring. A graceful bracelet that can be home-made is a string of beads twisted loosely around the arm several times.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR MAY 22

THE CHRISTIAN VIEW OF THE FAMILY.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42; 2:51, 52; II Tim. 3:14, 15.

GOLDEN TEXT—Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well-pleasing unto the Lord. Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.—Col. 3:20, 21.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Col. 3:18-25; II Tim. 1:3-6; Tit. 2:1-8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping to Make Home Happy.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Making Home Happy.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being a Christian at Home.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Ideal of Family Life.

The Lesson Committee has made an infelicitous choice of title for this lesson. The teacher would better ignore it and give himself to the explanation of the passages of Scripture selected, as they are of immense importance.

1. The Behavior of Martha and Mary When Jesus Was in the Home (Luke 10:38-42).

The attitude of Martha and Mary toward Jesus was the same; they both loved Him sincerely.

1. Jesus welcomed into Martha's home (v. 39). Though Jesus had no home of His own, into this home He could come at any time and throw off the restraints incident to a public ministry. How pleasant it is to enter a home where one can feel "at home"! In Martha's home Jesus was welcomed for what He was, not for what He might appear to be. This home was His special retreat in the last days of His life on earth.

2. Mary sitting at Jesus' feet (v. 39). Though this was Martha's home, her sister Mary lived with her. Mary had a peculiar spiritual insight which prompted her to sit at Jesus' feet and listen to His words. The real place to hear Jesus' word is at His feet. Let no one imagine that Mary did not render any service. The little word "also" implies that she had taken her turn at service.

3. Martha's complaint (v. 40). She was desirous of preparing the very best possible meal for Jesus because she loved Him. She was mistaken as to what pleased Jesus. He much prefers the love which concerns itself with Him than for His. Because of her failure to perceive this she was "cumbered about much serving." Her serving got on her nerves; she became distracted. In her distraction she not only found fault with Mary, but even censured Jesus for allowing Mary to sit at His feet while the dinner was not finished. In order to serve Jesus without distraction one must first sit at His feet and listen to His words. This gives personal poise.

4. Jesus' reply (vv. 41, 42). (1) He rebuked Martha, telling her that she was careful and troubled about many things. Those who are concerned with the Master are anxious for nothing (Phil. 4:6). The one thing needful for every life is to sit at Jesus' feet. The time to choose this place is in the day of sunshine. (2) He commends Mary. "Mary hath chosen that good part which shall not be taken away." Those who choose this good part cannot be robbed of it by circumstances, friends, or foes.

II. Jesus, the Obedient Son (Luke 2:51, 52).

Although Jesus was conscious of His deity and divine mission, He rendered due obedience as a faithful son. Since He was known as the carpenter's son (Matt. 13:55), and the carpenter (Mark 6:3), it is reasonable to suppose that He assisted Joseph in his work as a carpenter, and after Joseph's death He, as the eldest son of the family, continued with the trade to support the family. Indeed, tradition has it that soon after they found Him in the temple at the age of twelve, Joseph died leaving the care of the family upon Him. The obedient child is really about his father's business when running errands for mother in loving obedience to her request. Asking questions in the temple, of the doctors, was no more His divinely appointed work than rendering obedience and being subject to His parents. The obedience which He rendered was a glad and free obedience. He did not chafe under the drudgery of the common place. In this free obedience He grew up. Right development can only be had in useful service.

III. Timothy's Home Training (II Tim. 3:14, 15).

This is a picture of a real Christian home. From a child, that is, a babe, Timothy was taught the Holy Scriptures (v. 15). This teaching was not done in the Sunday school, but in the home of his mother (II Tim. 1:5). The Sunday school can never take the place of home teaching. Timothy had a godly ancestry. His mother had the good sense to fill his mind with the word of God before it became preoccupied with other things. The reason this is so important is because the Scriptures are God-breathed, and able to make one wise. The wisdom which is obtained from the Scriptures leads to Christ, the only Savior, in whom alone is salvation (Acts 4:12). He is the central theme of the Scriptures. Those who know the Scriptures come to know Christ. The Scriptures not only lead to Christ the Savior, but they sanctify the life, for they are holy.

His Best.

David Starr Jordan said that a man is at his best at seventy. And so he is. And he is at his best at twenty, or at forty or at ninety if he is at his best then. In other words he is at his best when he is at his best. And it is his own fault if he isn't at his best at any age. We are exactly what we will ourselves to be. God makes us, and then He leaves it to us what we want to do about it.

SCONCE HOLDS WELL HIS LIGHT

HARVEY J. SCONCE, speaking to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce at its Ninth Annual Convention at Atlantic City, on "Agriculture and Tariff," said:

"While it is true that this country has become a creditor nation during the past few years, yet this fact does not lessen our responsibility to our people, and our tariff should be so framed as to first consider their needs. An industry as important to the nation's welfare as that of agriculture must have adequate protection in order to give the opportunity for the greatest development which will result in better living conditions for all the people of the nation."

Mr. Sconce holds well his light so all who run may read. An idea is being fostered by some of our friends who are more interested in the import game than in domestic production, that because we are a creditor nation we should let down the tariff bars and permit our creditors to pay us eleven or twelve billions of dollars in goods, ware, and merchandise, in order to cancel their bills to us. These importers are perfectly willing that American agriculture and industry should lay off for awhile until this is done—that the fields should lie fallow and the wheels stop revolving in order that American consumers may turn to foreign goods. They overlook the fact that if we do not keep industry going we will soon have no wherewithal to purchase anything they may import, and industry cannot be kept going if we are to permit our foreign competitors to have the American market. Neither can we sell abroad if we do not keep industry running at such capacity as will reduce the unit cost of production.

We must and will have a tariff which will not prohibit all importation, but will so restrict it as to give American agriculture and industry a predominating place in its own market.

GIVE IT TO MOLE

Little Animal Hereby Qualifies as a Samson.

Venerable Fisherman Tells Story That Should Remove All Doubt Concerning the Strength of the Small Earth Disturber.

"Do you want to know the most powerful animal for its size in the world?"

The question was asked just after a venerable fisherman had landed a fine eastern brook trout, says Howard M. Wright in the Portland Oregonian. We were standing on the shore of one of the lakes well back in the Cascades.

I had only a few moments before unsling my pack at his cabin, and taking a trail that led to the lake, had found him right in his glory. I, of course, was interested in getting all the data the old fellow had to offer and we sat down on a log and as he produced a Missouri meerschaum I handed out a box of tobacco. He proceeded to fill up with what he called his favorite brand next to H. O.

That gave me a clew and I knew at once the ancient angler could tell some big ones. He fired up deliberately and crossed his legs in a leisurely manner.

"Well, sir," he started out, "I reckon, according to what one of them scientists told me that happened in here a while back that the mole has got 'em all stopped. I had been telling some stories about being towed around in a boat by a big fish off'n the Newfoundland banks and after I got through he waited a little while and then said:

"'Well, captain, I have never had a lot of experience with big fish, but I certainly had my eyes opened one day. I had accidentally caught a live mole, and for no particular reason I brought it into the house and put it on the floor. It began to wander about the room and finally came up against the leg of a chair which happened to be up close to the wall. The mole smelled it over a little, backed up a little, sniffed some and put his nose in between that chair and the wall and pushed her aside as if she had been a puff ball.

"'That certainly got my interest, so I said to myself, "Looka here, Mr. Mole, we'll try you out and see what your limits are." I hunted around until I found a Webster's dictionary and a big family Bible. I placed these on the chair and piled other books on top of them until that chair would hold no more and waited for him to try it out.

"'Pretty soon he came keeping close to the wall. This time he never stopped to sniff, but walked right through.

"'That got me, but I scratched my head a little and when I saw Mr. Mole coming up for the third time I jumped on top of the pile of books. But it was no use; he kept right on going and slid the whole business of us right to one side.

"'Well, I was somewhat amazed, but suddenly a thought came to me and I went out and called in my neighbor, a big, fat man, weighing a few pounds under 300. He straddled aboard.

"'On came the mole, this time his muscles fairly standing out to get into the fray. But he was no foolhardy young mole. He took time to size up the situation, sort of shrugged his shoulders and acted as if he was spitting on his hands. Finally he poked his nose in between the legs of that chair and the wall and raised those mighty shoulders. The chair creaked a little, moved slowly to one side and the mole passed—but the chair broke and the fat man came down with a thud on the mole's back. And, do you know, that mole hesitated only a moment and then started for the corner of the room, carrying the fat man on his back.'"

Lumber Is Down

YES, Lumber is down—down to where a farmer can afford to build anything that can be made of lumber, even in the face of a low market on farm products.

Lumber was the last great commodity to go up, and the first to come down. Today lumber prices are down to where it is hard to see how they can go any lower, when costs are considered.

You farmers have reason to be disappointed in the returns from last year's crops, but with lumber selling on the present basis we do not believe you can afford not to do whatever building or repairing may be necessary before Spring work commences.

Whether it's a barn or a shed, or just some boards for fixing up around the place, the facts about lumber will appeal to any man or woman who believes in thrift and knows values.

Come in and talk over your particular problems. We want to be helpful, and we welcome an opportunity to show you.

Lumbago

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."
